KINDRED REGAINS HIS LOST SPEED.

Ran Away From Huntressa, Guide Rock and Jordan at Douglas Park Yesterday.

BUCCLEUTH OUTCLASSED LOT.

Opera Girl, Overlooked at 20 to 1, Had No Trouble in Taking First Event-Jim Gore II and Prima II Other Winners.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 12.-An tical day, coupled with one of the best cards offered since the meeting commenced, drew out a large attendance at Douglas Park this aftoon. The events were keenly contested, and to make matters all the more pleasant three of the five tuces were captured by the choices. Buccleuth, Jim Gore II and Prima II were the winning favorites. All Tartar were heavily played by the general public, and it is safe to say that the ring did not gather much on the afternoon's speculation The only real upset occurred in the first race, which was won by Opera Girl at odds of 20 to 1. Tom Hayes's Brockeuth ran over his field in the second race. He was under restraint until the last sixteenth, when he took command without half trying, and at the finish was a length and a half in front of Carat. The latter had the early speed, and set the pace until Euccleuth collared htm.

Jim Gore II made a runaway affair of the third race. He was never in trouble at any part, and won easily by a length from l'auline J.

Kindred, with a big pull in the weights, Kindred, with a big pull in the weights, made an exhibition of his field in the fourth face. a seven-furiong event, which called for all ages, The two 2-year-olds, Hontressa and Jordan, divided the play, Kindred going from 8 to 5 to 2½ to 1 at the close. Kindred had all his speed with him to-day, and soon opened up a gap of fully a dozen lengths. At no stage of the journey did any of the others have a chance.

Beauchamp eased Kindred up all the last sixteenth, and he won by two lengths from Huntressa. O'Nell, who rode Jordan, was kicked on the leg while at the post by Robert, Jr., and he was but little help to his mount in the race.

Salve Sold to the Bohlmans.

Prima II won the closing event without half trying. She outclassed her field, and when Daily got ready she ran over Banquo II, who, was the pacemaker in the early stages.

S. P. Harian disposed of his 3-year-old Salve this afternoon to E. & I. Bohlman, owners of Kindred. The reported price was $1,200. He will be rested up all winter and raced at St. Louis next season.

W. O. Parmer is in direct communication with Tom McBride of Savannah, with a view of holding a thirty or, possibly, a sixty gay meeting in Savannah at the close of Douglas Park.

STEAM LAUNCH RACE.

Owners of Boats in St. Louis Harbor Owners of steam yachts in the St. Louis harbor have arranged the first of a series of three annual races for the possession of the Rapp Championship Cup. The race will take place next Sunday, beginning at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, over a course about fourteen miles in length, extending from the boathous of the St. Louis Rowing Club, at the foot of Chouteau avenue, to the foot of Elewood street, Carondelst.

The cup is offered by Vincent Rapp of No. It's South Broadway. The conditions provide that the cup be contested for annually, the race taking place in the first week of September, which ruie is modified in the present case. If any yacht owner can win the cup three years in succession it shall become his property.

The change in the length of the course was suggested by Mr. Rapp, who believes a course of twenty miles or over, which was the distance in the last race, is too long, and that the spectators tire of waiting to see the finish.

Jeffries put on the gloves this morning for the last time prior to the clanging of the gong that will call him forth to battle for his laurels. Billy Delancy, Jeffries's trainer, stated yesterday that the big rellow would do no more boxing, and it was only to prove conclusively to the sporting world that he was not overtrained that Jeffries donned the mitts to-day.

Jeffries's work with the gloves was 18karat. He was fast as lightning and crashed his blows through the guard of big Bob Armstrong like a ten-ton piledriver hitting an eggshell.

His rejuvenated arm was as good as United States bonds. There was no sign that the champion "favored" it the slightest bit, even in the hottest kind of a mix-

The argument between the managers of the two fighters over the question of rules still wages fiercely. The sports here are about equally divided as to who is in the right. Harry Corbett, who will referee the fight, seems himself to be a bit perplexed. Last night be wired Charley White for his interpretation of the "one-arm-free" rule. The well-known Eastern referee, who is a lose friend of Corbett's, wired the following reply:

"Under the Queensberry rules, there is no The rules distinctly state that it shall be a fair, stand-up fight. This leaves but one interpretation—that is, there can be positively no clinching. If the men come to a clinch they must fight themselves free, with both hands. Should a man hold with even one hand after complex to a clinch be seen. one hand after coming to a clinch, he can be disqualified."

This will, in all probability, be Corbett's ruling upon the question, and Madden will have gained his point.

Betting on the fight seems to have settled down on a ten-to-four basis. Hundreds of small wagers were recorded with the Commissioners yesterday. Seventy-five per cent of the money placed was at the odds mentioned. A few hundred dollars were wagered at 2 to 1, but Ruhlin money seek-ing investment at that figure did not last

No very large bets have been made as yet, $100 to $40 being the biggest recorded. Wagers of this size have been numerous. Many of the horsemen think the price against Ruhlin a false one. They regard him as a very game fellow and a deter mined fighter and think he is as dangerous an opponent as could be found for Jeffries. Ruhlin's followers do not believe that the fight will be as one-sided as the betting would indicate. In their search of the rec-ords of both men they have found in the first place that on the only occasion when they met the two men fought a draw. This was in the early days of both their careers.

One-half the persons who affect to discuss the chances of the two fighters are ready to declare that Jeffries has beaten Ruhlin. Such is not the case. The men met only ence, on July 17, 1897. They fought for twenty rounds to a draw, and at the end it was hard to say which was the better. Of the two Rublin was damaged the least, although his face was puffed on the right side from Jeffries's left swings, Good judges hold that Jeffries has im-proved greatly since this battle, and his later lights bear out that oph ion Yet Ruh-iln was knocked out by Tom Sharkey in one round within a year of his fight with Jeff-ries. He knocked out Sharkey two years later after outlighting him for lifteen tounds. This was on June 28, 1909.

Form of the Two Pighters.

When Jeffries met Sharkey at San Francisco on May 6, 1938, he won a fairly easy decision in twenty rounds. When he met the same man at Coney Island on November 3, 1839, he had all he could do to get a decision in twenty-five rounds. At the end decision in twenty-five rounds. At the end of that fight it seemed that Sharkey could have gone on indefinitely, although the last ten rounds were plainly Jeffries's rounds. Sharkey fought most in the first fifteen. Then, again, and here the student of form will begin to "see things." Eitzsimmons beat Ruhlin in six rounds easily and Jeffres beat Fitzsimmons in eleven rounds, easily, too. In both fights Fitzsimmons rushed. Jeffries liked him best in that form. Fitzsimmons got the better of the in-lighting with Ruhlin and punched him so severely that he lay ill for days. Ruhlin was beaten almost to a pulp in that fight. Then, again, and here the student of form to a pulp in that fight.

It would appear that Jeffries and Ruhlin are two slow moving, heavy hitters. Both can deliver punches of telling force. Jeffries can stand almost any amount of punishment. From this it would seem that he must win. Ruhlin is a student. He started with strength and some science. He has with strength and some science. He has since acquired more science than the aver-

How Fits Fooled Gus. When Fitzsimmons fought Rublin he fooled him by pretending to be dazed by one of the German's blows. Rublin believed his eyes and fell a victim to the forman and the second services of the services. Cornishman's deverness. Somewhat similar tactics by Fitzsimmons when he met Jeffries were fruitless, and even when the Cornishman was going, Jeffries forebore to rush in and finish him at first, because he rush in and finish him at first, because he feared a trick.

Most sporting men expect a long battle, It is generally believed that the duration of the fight will depend largely on the tactics Jeffries pursues. With his power of disregarding hard blows, even were Ruhlin beating him, he could drag the fight out. But, on the other hand, Ruhlin would speedily be out of it should Jeffries land on him hard and often in the earlier stages of the contest. It was in this way that Fitzsimmons beat Ruhlin. Jeffries may, however, play a more wary game and wait, because in a previous fight he lost much by rushing.

Ruhlin's Secret Training Process.

Ruhlin's Secret Training Process. Ruhlin's Secret Training Process.

While there is a disposition in many quarters to sneer at the hints Billy Madden is throwing out regarding a secret training process Gus Ruhlin is engaged in, there are some who believe that the Akron man is diligently practicing something with which he hopes to surprise the champion.

Madden, say the doubting ones, knows that those who like to read about life in the training camp have become surfeited with stories of horoscopes cast by hermit astrologers and that they are likewise indifMAKE A FAST FIGHT. 0

However, we shall see Friday night."

Jeffries Weighs 210 Pounds. As showing that Jeffrice has not spared himself since his return from Harbin, it may be mentioned that he weighed barely 219 pounds at the close of his foremon's work. Billy Delaney is determined that Jeffries will not be idle between now and Christmas if he can help it. When Delaney heard that Flizsimmons had refused to consider an offer of a match with the winner of Friday night's contest he spent some hours conferring with the San Francisco Athletic Club. Delaney said that Jeffries. In the event of winning from Ruhlin, would be prepared to fight Sharkey in this city on De Jeffries's offer was telegraphed Sharkey in New York, and word was received that Sharkey replied without a moment's hesitation. The sailor said he would start training for the match right away and would set a date for his departure West later.

Until Sharkey was heard from last night many thought he was on his way to San Francisco for the purpose of winessing Friday's fight and issuing a challenge from the ringside. It is evident now that he will not be on hand.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

St. Joseph, Mo., Nov. 12.—Clarence Forbes of Chicago clearly demonstrated his superiority as a boxer and a puncher in his fight here to-night with Billy Finucan of Chicago. He labbed Finucan in the face and wind until he was put down in the seventh round, and when he was unable to rise his seconds gave up the fight.

Finucan was game to the core, but he missed many opportunities to counter when Forbes landed heavily on the face and jaw. Finucan took the count twice in the sixth round. Neither man was badly marked. They fought at 118 pounds with each man a few ounces overweight.

The contest was given by the Eagles and was scheduled for twenty rounds.

KIRKSVILLE MEETS C. B. C. TO-MORROW.

Teams Will Play at the Christian Brothers' Campus-General Football Talk.

Christian Brothers' College eleven will play the Kirksville Osteopaths to-morrow afternoon at the C. B. C. campus, the game being set for Friday so as not to conflict with the High-Manual game, scheduled for the campus Saturday afternoon. Kirks-viile's team will arrive at 1 o'clock this afternoon and will go direct to the Laclede

Hotel. C. B. C. has been hard at work lately practicing for the game, and yesterday lined up against the P. & S. team, captained by Frank Lillie. Line work was the feature of the afternoon and no attempt was made to kick goais from the two touchdowns scored by the Brothers. Considering that it was their first hard practice game of the season, the newly organized Physicians and Surgeons team showed up to considerable navantage.

Kirksythe's team has a good record to date, having won its last five games and offcated the Missouri University eleven in its last line-up by a zore of 22 to 6. The complete record of the team follows:

Kirksyllie 9. Nebraska 5.

Kirksyllie 9. Kanass 17.

Kirksyllie 18. Kanass 17.

Kirksyllie 19. Gem City College 6.

Kirksyllie 19. Gem City College 6.

Considering the Osteopaths' good record of late, an excellent game should result to-morrow.

Great interest will attach locally to the game scheduled for Friday, November 22, at C. B. C., when the University of Illinois team, recognized as one of the leading elevens of the West, will libe up against the Brothers at C. B. C. campus. Illinois is classed as second only to Michigan in this part of the country, and the game should attract great attention through Missouri and Illinois.

Washington University will play the Rose Polytechnic Institute of Indianapolis next Saturday at Athletic Park, while High and the Manual and Smith and the Western Military Academy will meet the same day, the High-Manual game being scheduled for the C. B. C. campus, while the Smith-Western game is scheduled for Pastime Park. St. Louis University will play Marion-Sims at Handian's Park the same afternoon.

Captain Frank Lillie and Manager Hilger of the P. & S. team are negotiating for a game with the Rolla eleven for Saturday. They believe that the team might as well have practice from the start against hard teams, and their work of yesterday has encouraged the management to believe that the men can be whipped into shape in time to make a creditable showing Saturday.

Kirby, who plays left end for the Smith Academy team, will play against his brother Saturday, the latter being a student of the Western Military Academy, and a member of its team. Krutsch, the fullback of Smith's eleven, will also meet his brother on the gridfron Thanksgiving Day, a second Krusch being full back on the High School team.

The Kirkwood High School team will Day on the school campus. A dance will be given in the evening.

Owner of St. Louis Race Tracks Says
Peace Proposals Have Been Made.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 13.—Captain Tilles, the St. Louis race track owner, was in attendance at Douglas Park to-day. When questioned in regard to the story that Cella, Adler and Tilles were going to forsake the Turf Congress and join the Western Jockey Club, he said:

"My visit here to-day is to assure horsemen that under no consideration will we join the new body until all horsemen and horses who raced on Turf Congress tracks the past summer and who are in good standing shall be restored to favor by the Jockey Club There must be no discrimination. All must be placed on equality.

"The Western Jockey Club has made overtures to us. We demand that we be allowed to name two stewards to represent the Fair Grounds and Delmar. This under the present constitution of the Western Jockey Club is impossible, as the constitution specifies that only seven stewards shall serve. When the Fair Grounds was sold to Cella, Adler and Tilles, a vacancy was created in the Board of Stewards. Robert Aull, who was appointed Meward for the Fair Grounds, stepped down. Now the Western Jockey Club wants this vacancy niled by St. Louis.

Everyone here directly connected with racing is eagerly locking for an amicable adjustment of affairs by both parties, but unless concessions are made on both sides the turf tangle, which looked to be almost unraveled, is no nearer solved than it was three months ago.

Four Men Tie for First Place-Mack Defeats Clayton

E. C. Mack defeated Arthur Clayton last night in the French-pool tournament at the Broadway, taxing six games out of nine. The deadlock will be weakened to-night, as Russell will either take the lead or fall behind, according to the result of his match with "Skaggs" McGowan.
